Rapid Medical Attention That Saves Lives

When a stroke happens, you need expert medical attention – fast. And the quality of medical care that you receive during and after a stroke can make all the difference in your recovery.

Where would you rather be? In a hospital that doesn't have a stroke plan in place or a primary stroke center with a team of dedicated stroke care specialists under one roof?

Let Piedmont Hospital provide you with quality stroke care.

Strokes Kill, Injure

Strokes are deadly, but the stroke experts at Piedmont Hospital provide superior medical treatment to manage the disease – one stroke patient at a time. You won't find a hospital with more resources and dedication to stroke diagnosis, treatment and management.

Nationwide, strokes kill more than 150,000 people in the United States every year. Strokes are the third-largest cause of death in the U.S. Strokes are a particularly acute problem in Georgia. Georgia is one of 11 southern states known as the "stroke belt" for record numbers of stroke and cardiovascular disease.

When strokes don't kill, they injure. Nationwide, strokes are the leading cause of adult disability and impact more than 6 million adults.

Piedmont Hospital is committed to making a difference in the lives of stroke patients in metro Atlanta.
